PONZI DRIVES ALL BOSTON CRAZY BY GIVING BACK MONEY INVESTED AND 100 PERCENT. GAIN IN 90 DAYS

Crowds Thrust Their Money on the Modern Midas in Dinky Little Office.

SAYS HE HAS $13,000,000.

Trading Back and Forth in International Exchange His Method, He Explains.

(Special From a Correspondent of The Evening World.)

BOSTON, July 28.—All Boston is get-rich-quick mad over Charles Ponzi, the creator of fortune, a modern King Midas, who doubles your money in ninety days. At every corner, on the street cars, behind the department-store counters, from luxurious parlors to humble kitchens to the very outskirts of New England, Ponzi is making more hope, more anxiety, than any conquering general of old. Mary Pickford, Sir Thomas Lipton, and smuggling booze over the Canadian border aren't in it any more.

For Ponzi makes everybody rich quick. Loan him your money, from $50 to $50,000, and in ninety days he gives you back twice as much as you gave him. He's been doing it for eight months and he's still at it. With no other security than his personal note, Boston is pouring all its savings into Ponzi's hands. Like a tidal wave, the passion for investment with the new Italian banker has swept over Boston folk until it took half of Boston's police force to subdue the enthusiasm of a throng of prospective investors that overflowed from the banking office, through the corridors, down the stairs and into the street, blocking traffic. So tremendous has been the withdrawal of funds from savings banks that it is rumored there is consternation in high financial circles.

Trading in international coupons, taking advantage of the various rates of exchange with foreign countries in peculiar combination, Ponzi says, enables him to coin fortunes for himself and every one who invests with him. Federal, State and local investigation have failed to unearth anything illegitimate about the business. Police officials and District Attorneys are said to be heavy investors. "The biggest sceptics are now my biggest believers," says Ponzi. Estimates are made that more than half a million persons have invested, every note has been paid at maturity with 50 per cent. interest in forty-five days, 100 per cent. in ninety days. Notes are redeemed at face value at any time.

DOLES OUT NOTES FROM DINGY LITTLE OFFICE.

In a dingy little office on one of Boston's narrowest streets, close by the old Revolutionary burying grounds, Ponzi, meteoric banker, doles out his notes and takes in the money. In narrow corridors, up the stairways, at the doorways, with the air hot and dense from the crowds who have gathered day by day, handsome

HANDSOMEST MAN IN CITY IS A COP; HE WANTS A GIRL

Howard Chandler Christy Selects Policeman Kennedy as the Model Adonis.

Is there a little colleen in New York who would like to "keep company" with the handsomest man in the city? No brief contest is required to proclaim that Herbert A. Kennedy, who is attached to the Twenty-eighth Police Precinct, is the handsomest man in town, for Howard Chandler Christy, the artist, has so dubbed him and has chosen him as the model for a poster to advertise the coming police games.

Kennedy believes Artist Christy must be near-sighted to have selected him as the Adonis of the Police Department, and is carrying his honors modestly.

One of the dearest wishes of his life is to find just the right little colleen to "keep company" with, he says.

DOUG AND MARY BACK FROM EUROPE GREETED BY MOB

Movie Fans Storm Pier in Welcome to Couple Returning From Honeymoon.

DO STUNTS LIKE ACTOR.

Hebrew Orphans' Band Plays "Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here" as Ship Docks.

Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford came home on the Olympic today from their honeymoon in Europe where they caused much commotion among movie fans.

They were met at the pier here by a whooping, howling mob of fans who created a good natured riot, broke police lines and to get a look at their favorites performed feats of climbing on fences, lamp posts and trucks that compared well with Doug's hair-raising exploits in the films.

Thousands crowded in and around the pier at the foot of West 20th Street when the White Star liner docked. Jack Gleason, Abbot of the Friars Club, and George Dougherty, former Deputy Police Commissioner, headed a deputation of theatrical folk who were on hand to give a formal welcome.

Douglas and Mary were in the Olympic's gorgeous bridal suite up to the last minute, autographing pictures for members of the crew. As the ship was docking a military band and the land of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum, in sightless buses, a brief contest from which the Orphans' band emerged victorious with "Hail, Hail, The Gang's All Here."

Sam Bernard, Billy B. Van, Jim Corbett, Walter Kelly, Louis Mann and William A. Brady gave the returning travelers a rousing welcome, while the movie fans in the street outside howled themselves hoarse. About fifty newsmen, headed by one with an accordion, rushed the dock when the crowd broke through the lines. Lieut. Tony Howe and his motorcycle policemen led their work cut out for them and more than a dozen men from the precinct, backed up by mounted men, had to lend a hand to hold the fans in check.

Doug and Mary entered a waiting automobile and in a parade like a royal progress, went up Twelfth Avenue to 23d Street, east on Fifth Avenue, and thence to the Ritz Carlton, where they are to stay four days before going to California.

Fairbanks said the reception was a thriller, even after the commotion in London, where he declared he and Mary had to leave their hotel by the back door. Mary wearing goggles and hunched over like an old woman, while Doug wore a black mustache like a regular movie villain to get away from the crowds and see the town.

He said there is a fine field for American movie theatres and producers in Europe.

On the Olympic were Sheriff David H. Knott, Miss Elizabeth Choate, Prof. Henry H. Knott, Commander Mirabelli of the Italian Navy and Ogden Mills. Sheriff Knott said he talked with Lady Astor in London and she urged that American women take a more practical part in politics.

Edward H. Davis of the U. S. Tobacco Journal said there is a tobacco famine everywhere in Europe.

MILK GOES UP A CENT.

Increase of one cent in the prices of Grade A and Grade B milk, effective for August, was announced today by Patrick D. Fox, President of the Board of the Farmers Products Company. All other prices will remain unchanged. The new schedule will make Grade A quarts twenty cents, and Grade B seventeen cents. "We have aimed to pass on to the consumer just as little as possible of the increase the company is compelled to give to the dairymen," Mr. Fox explained. Only a half of the business of the company, he said, was in selling the two grades mentioned.

BARNES LEADING IN "MET" OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

St. Louis Player Has a Score of 69—Hagen is Two Strokes Behind.

By William Abbott.

(Star Correspondent of The Evening World.) GREENWICH, Conn., July 28.—The opening round of the Metropolitan Open Golf championship over the Greenwich Club's course found Jim Barnes of St. Louis well out in front of a powerful field of amateurs with a score of 69. Barnes, who tried for fifth place in the recent British championship at Deauville, was in superb form today playing his shots with the accuracy of a rifleman.

Out in 35, he negotiated the final 9 holes, the most difficult of the beautiful course, in thirty-four strokes. Barnes only had three in on his entire score, the other holes being pulled off in four, three and even a couple of twos.

Two strokes behind the leader came Walter Hagen, the defending titleholder, whose 71 score represented several trips to bunkers on the journey over the hill's links. Hagen was out in 46 and back in 36.

Hagen's partner, Pat O'Hara, of the Shuckamaxon Club, took a 79 because of an occasional missed putt which usually brought words of encouragement from Hagen whose putting was faultless.

Tied with Hagen at second place was Willie MacFarlane, a tall player Scot from Hempstead, who is private golf instructor to Daniel Guggenheim, when he isn't competing in tournaments. MacFarlane really led the field for two hours, until "Long Jim" Barnes came in with his fine score.

There were 115 actual starters, the greatest number that ever teed-off for the "Met" open title.

The professionals came from all sections of the country and their presence gave the Metropolitan Tournament almost the class that would be found at the national championship.

Of the small detachment of amateurs who bravely decided to swap strokes with the pros, the best showing was made by Jess Huesteler, the eighteen-year-old intercollegiate titleholder from Yale who shot around in 76.

The scores follow: Tom McNamara, Swanoy, 37, 27—74.

NEW CITY PAY PLAN GIVES LOWEST PAID BIGGEST INCREASES

Estimate Board Officers Consider Substitute for 20% Scheme at Mayor's Request.

Officials and examiners of the Board of Estimate today are going into figures submitted as a substitute for the proposed flat 20 per cent. increase in salaries for city employees, which was vetoed by Mayor Hylan. The Mayor has asked the board to reconsider the entire question.

The tentative proposals now under consideration by the board's officers are: Twenty-one per cent. increase on all city salaries of $1,500 or less. Twenty per cent. increase on all salaries between $1,500 and $2,500. No increase of more than $500 yearly on any salary of more than $2,500. No increase of any amount to salaries over $7,500.

A minimum increase in all salaries, save those of the last named class, of not less than $200 yearly. Comptroller Craig, who is standing pat on the 20 per cent. increase voted by the Board of Estimate, refused to take any part in the deliberations today. Mayor Hylan preferred asking the board to reopen the whole salary question to entering a legal fight with the Comptroller over the validity of his veto.

Mayor Hylan is quite certain that majorities in both the Estimate Board and the Board of Aldermen now realize the flat 20 per cent. increase for all city employees, irrespective of their salaries, is unjust and that they will cheerfully vote for a plan that will guarantee a square deal to the less than $2,000 a year employees.

The Bureau of Municipal Research upholds the Mayor's veto of the flat 20 per cent. schedule. In a statement issued under the name of R. Fulton Cutting, Chairman of the Board of Trustees, the bureau makes the contention that the budget must stand in the form it passed originally.

Leonard M. Wallstein, counsel for the Citizens' union, issued a statement saying "the Mayor has acted wisely and courageously in vetoing the unjust scheme of salary increase."

Gordon Smith, Sunningdale, 41, 42—83. Alex Smith, Shenandoah, 42, 35—77. R. D. Armour, Ithaca, 40, 45—85.

Alex Campbell, Rockport, 36, 45—78. P. J. Doyle, Deal, 42, 40—82. J. Douglas Edgar, Druid Hills, 34, 38—72. Everett French, Yonkers, 37, 38—75. George Tottenham, Richmond, 42, 39—81. Charles H. Haffner, Palmdale, 36, 44—80.

BOSSSES FORCE MILLER OVER, SENATOR THOMPSON BOLTS, WILL GO BEFORE PRIMARIES

Names of Sage, Howard, Tompkins, Hugo O'Brien and Others Placed Before Convention, but All Are Crushed by Steam Roller.

By Joseph S. Jordan. Special Staff Correspondent of The Evening World. SARATOGA, N. Y., July 28.—Former Justice Nathan L. Miller was designated as its candidate for Governor before the State primaries by the unofficial Republican convention this afternoon. The steam roller constructed by the bosses was in evidence from the start, and there was at no time any possibility of defeating Miller.

The nomination was made on the third ballot.

ROAST FOR SMITH AND TAMMANYITES BY COL. HAYWARD

Permanent G. O. P. Chairman at Saratoga Calls Tammany "League of Damned Ones"

SARATOGA, N. Y., July 28.—In sharp contrast with the speed yesterday of David Jayne Hill as Temporary Chairman of the Unofficial Republican State Convention, who confined himself to national issues, Col. William W. Hayward, as Permanent Chairman, today devoted his address largely to State affairs. It was a hot roast on Gov. Smith and Tammany Hall.

Col. Hayward asserted that Gov. Smith "stole a ride to the Executive Mansion in Albany, behind the horses which bore the mangled victims of the Madison Street wreck in Brooklyn," charged that the Governor had not kept his pre-election promises and said dishonorable means had been used to promote Smith's election.

CALLS TAMMANY HALL A LEAGUE OF DAMNATION.

He asserted that the Democratic Party nationally is torn with strife, he said that in this State the disagreements have gone even further. "Every Tammany official damns every other Tammany official," he said. "The great Democratic editor damns the Tammany Governor. The Tammany Mayor damns the Tammany Governor who damns the Mayor in return. The Tammany District Attorney and the Tammany Police Department accuse each other of all the crimes in the category. The Tammany Comptroller damns the Tammany Mayor and the Tammany Chamberlain, and is by them damned in return. And each gives competent and material facts to prove the truth of his assertions. It is one league, a 'league of damnations,' that the Republican Party ratifies without reservations."

Going into the State issues, Hayward said Smith with the record before him.
